PIONEER MISSIONARY EVANGELIST & FRIEND of PERSECUTED CHRISTIANS

On Sunday, 11 December 2016, Rev. Bill Bathman ended his earthly ministry and entered eternity. Over the last year, Bill Bathman had battled with congestive heart failure and cancer (adenocarcinoma of the prostate with metastasis). He was cared for at home by his dedicated wife, Harriett, a Registered Nurse, who doubtless was used of the Lord to extend his life by decades.

More Lives than a Cat

In 1970, Bill Bathman had a head-on collision with a Porsche on an alpine road in Austria. Although thrown through the windscreen of the car, suffering broken bones, he survived that, as well as heart attacks and strokes in the 1980s. Bill Bathman distributed New Testaments to Soviet soldiers as they invaded Czechoslovakia in August 1968, ministered in Nicaragua during the communist takeover in 1979 and was preaching in Romania at the time of the revolution in 1989. Bill Bathman turned 89 on the 1st December.

Looking Forward to Heaven

When I saw him last in October, he was reading Randy Alcorn's book on Heaven. "I am reading up on my next move! This is the best book on Heaven I have ever read.", "There is far more about Heaven in the Bible than I was aware of!" Bill laughed about having two life-threatening diseases competing with each other as to which one would get him first.

Overflow

"Retirement is not in my vocabulary," he said. "Whether the Lord comes, or calls, I want to be ready and die with my boots on." He mentioned that he was working on a new devotional book: Overflow. "Giving does not empty your purse, nor does loving empty your heart. The thing that blesses people is not overwork, but overflow."

Chairman of the Board of Frontline Fellowship for 14 Years

Despite having lost a lot of weight and needing an oxygen concentrator to assist in his breathing, in recent months, Bill Bathman remained an active Chairman of the Board of Frontline Fellowship, guiding, advising and instructing us out of his wealth of over six decades of Christian service.

CUBA, CASTRO & COMMUNISM

"And as it is appointed for men to die once, but after this the Judgment."

Hebrews 9:27

Cuban Communists in Angola

On 12 September 1977, Cuban troops interrupted the service at Chilleso Evangelical Church in Angola. They desecrated the church with the heads of cattle and murdered Pastor Aurelio Saunje in front of his congregation. As the church members fled, they were shot in the back. About 150 were killed that day. The Cuban communists then roasted the meat of the cattle using church benches, the pulpit and hymn books as fire wood. They also burned down the church building.

Angola's Agony

This was only one of many hundreds of atrocities committed by Cuban communist forces of Fidel Castro in Angola. Cubans burst into churches and forced congregation members to bow and worship before Soviet assault rifles. "From now on - god is this AK-47. The gun has power over life and death. So worship it!"

Blasphemy & Torment

At one congregation they brought in a lamb, cut its head off and poured the blood over members of the congregation, smearing the blood on their faces. They dragged them out of their pews and forced them to their knees in front of the dead lamb. "Worship the lamb! The blood of the lamb sets you free!" the Cubans laughed. Then they taunted the believers: "You have committed idolatry! You are lost! Your souls will be condemned to hell with us for all eternity! You can never be saved now!"

Evangelising the Earth

One of the best introductions to Bill Bathman that I heard was: "Two thirds of the world is covered in water and the other third by Bill Bathman!" Indeed, my Father-in-Law, Rev. Bill Bathman, was an extraordinary Evangelist, who ministered in 114 countries, throughout his long and productive life.

From the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee to the U.S. Navy

Born in Chattanooga, Tennessee, 1 December 1927, Bill was driving delivery trucks already from age 14. He loved fast cars and obtained his pilot's licence to engage in extraordinarily dangerous aerial feats. Including landing on the football field of the university where he was studying, Bob Jones University (BJU). He served on a Destroyer in the US Navy and was converted to Christ shortly after entering Theological Training for the ministry! His spiritual birthday was 8 September 1948.

Missionary to Europe

In the Summer of 1951, Bill Bathman led a four-man Mission team to Europe. Within a month of graduating from BJU, Bill and his bride, Harriett Bathman, set off as Missionaries to Europe. For the next two decades, they were based first in England and then Austria, ministering throughout Western Europe and across the Iron Curtain, to serve persecuted Christians in Communist controlled Eastern Europe. For ten years Bill hosted a daily radio program In Touch and for over 20 years was the Editor of a monthly geo-strategic newsletter, Global Glimpse.

Steadfast and Sacrificial Service

In this superficial age of short-term ministry, Bill and Harriett Bathman have clearly demonstrated what real Missions are all about: whole-hearted, life-long commitment. For over 60 years, the Bathmans invested everything they had into the cause of Evangelism and serving the persecuted Church. They immersed themselves into the lives of the people amongst whom they were called to serve. They were 22 years into ministry in Europe before they took their first furlough. Bill and Harriett Bathman show us what it means to endure hardship, persevere under trial and stand firm to the end.

Ministering with God's Smuggler

In October, I asked Bill when he first met

Brother Andrew. "It was 1957 and I was conducting services across Europe. That night I was in Bensheim, Germany, when I saw two cars with Netherlands licence plates - one was a VW Beetle and the other a 1957 Chevy. They were enroute to Hungary and Poland." Then Bill remarked that sometime later, when they met to co-ordinate training programmes and Missions behind the Iron Curtain, Brother Andrew had commented on his text and sermon that night in Bensheim: "But it has happened to them according to the true proverb: 'A dog returns to his own vomit,' and 'a sow, having washed, to her wallowing in the mire'." 2 Peter 2:22. Brother Andrew said that he could never forget such an unusual Evangelistic sermon and text!

Beloved Brother Bill

When I had the privilege of accompanying Rev. Bill Bathman on Missions to Eastern Europe (both before and after the collapse of the Iron Curtain), I was struck by how much the people there love him. In Poland, Czech and Slovakia, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Romania and Albania, it was inspiring to see with what overwhelming joy he was welcomed by the pastors and local Christians and to see the shining faces and rapt attention of devoted members of each congregation. They stood, or sat, riveted, hanging on every word of their beloved "Brother Bill."

In the Darkest Times when their Need Was the Greatest

Time and again, the precious believers in Eastern Europe eagerly related to me how Bill Bathman had been the first Christian from the West to visit them, how he had visited them the most, stayed the longest, given the most and how he had come back again and again. Bill Bathman came through the Iron Curtain when their need was the greatest, during the darkest years, when it was the most dangerous. When few others seemed to care or to dare - Bill Bathman was there for them.

Anointed Evangelist

Rev. Bill Bathman is a world-class preacher and an extraordinary Evangelist. However, one could never compare his preaching in the West with the incredibly anointed ministry God poured through him in Eastern Europe. Leaders in Romania, such as Rev. Josef Tson, Dr. Nicolai Gheorghita and Dr. Paul Negrut, in Oradea, told me that the outbreak of Revival in Romania began while Rev. Bill Bathman was delivering a particularly powerful series of sermons, in January 1983, at Second Baptist Church (now Emanuel Baptist Church). It was an extraordinary Evangelistic Crusade which resulted in Revival blessings flowing across Western Romania.

Going On and Going Through

It often seems that modern missionary volunteers just want to dabble in Missions - for the experience. However, Bill Bathman's books, Going Through - Even if the Door is Closed and Going On - With a Nod from God, present inspiring examples of dedicated discipleship and serious service, not just splashing in the shallows, but delving into the deep. Spiritually speaking, Missions need more than short-distance sprinters, it needs long-distance marathon runners. Rev. Bill Bathman can now declare: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the Faith." 2 Timothy 4:7

Faith in Action

In Missions, obstacles abound. Disappointments, dangers, difficulties and discouragements are occupational hazards of cross-cultural Missions. Bill Bathman persevered for 67 years, demonstrating that sacrificial service is the most eloquent sermon of all.

Africa Overland

I also had the privilege of ministering with Bill Bathman in Mexico, South West Africa/Namibia, Angola, Congo, Zambia, Zimbabwe, Kenya and Sudan. In fact, Rev. Bill Bathman was 74-years old when I flew with him into Western Equatoria, South Sudan, in 2001. Bill Bathman went right up to the frontline of the battle front, preaching in areas where we had come under aerial bombardment and artillery barrages. He so enjoyed this ministry to the persecuted Church in South Sudan, that, upon returning to Cape Town, he purchased a land cruiser, loaded it up with Bibles and essential supplies for the Church in South Sudan and drove it overland, 8,000km to donate both vehicle and contents to the Church in South Sudan.

Inspiring Example

His example reminded us of Caleb, who could, at the end of his life, say, "Give me that mountain!" "Therefore we also, since we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight and the sin which so easily ensnares us and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us." Hebrews 12:1

Blessing His Grandchildren

Bill Bathman founded three Missions: Network, Pioneers and ITMI. He also poured his life into the Mission of Frontline Fellowship, especially during the seven years that they were based in Cape Town, from 2001 to 2008. Our eldest daughter, Andrea, had the joy of being trained by her Granddad in how to play chess and win! He also taught her to swim, to ride a bike and to drive, long before she was old enough to have a drivers licence! All of his grandchildren in Cape Town thoroughly enjoyed having their Grandparents close at hand and involved in their daily lives and schooling. Bill and Harriett Bathman have three daughters: Deborah, Linda and Lenora; ten grandchildren: Thomas, Lenora and Oliver, Vincent, Daniel and Jesaja, Andrea, Daniela, Christopher and Calvin; plus seven great-grandchildren: Johannes, Matthias, Madilyn Mae, Emmalyn Grace, Miriam, Sebastian and Jeremy.

Triumph Amidst Tribulation

Bill Bathman lived an action-packed life ministering throughout Europe in the aftermath of the Second World War and throughout the tumultuous events of the Cold War, ministering in Rhodesia during the Bush War in the 70s, during the Revolutions in Central America, ministering despite repression in Red China, ministering in the Revival in Zululand and the Revival amidst persecution in Sudan. His fervent Faith under fire in the war zones of Africa, documenting many of the triumphs of the Gospel amidst tragedies and the tremendous testimonies of God's grace, provision, protection and guidance during the turbulent times of terrorism threatening Faith and freedom today. Bill Bathman's writings in Going On and Going Through take one behind the lines and beyond the news headlines of what has really been happening in these conflict and restricted access areas. If you have not yet read these books, you are missing out.

Calling Sinners to Repentance - Even in Churches

Even at 88 years old, he was still able to be banned from a pulpit - for giving an altar call! Bill was not one to miss Evangelistic opportunities. He called people to Repentance and Faith in Christ at every opportunity. I met people who recalled how they saw Bill Bathman go into pubs in Britain, stand on the bar counter and proclaim the Gospel to the customers!

Living in the Light of Eternity

With physicians, pharmacists and nurses, he would often be heard saying: "I have learned one thing in life." (That gets their attention and arouses curiosity. What has this old man learned about life? There is a brief pause while waiting for the answer). "We never get out of it alive!" (There is usually a laugh and agreement with this obvious truth).

"So, the only way to live... is to be ready to die." (That is logical. Remember the Divine appointment?) "It is appointed unto man once to die and after that the Judgment" Hebrews 9:27. "The only way to be ready to die - is to know Jesus Christ as your Lord and Saviour." ("For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." John 3:16 "But as many as received Him, to them He gave the right to become children of God, to those who believe in His Name." John 1:12)

Be a Fisher of Men

Bill Bathman sometimes said to us: "Jesus Christ once said to professional fishermen, 'Follow Me, I will make you a fisher of men.'" He would then challenge us to win souls.

"Those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament, and those who turn many to righteousness like the stars forever and ever." Daniel 12:3

Celebrating the Life and Legacy of Bill Bathman

Rev. Bill Bathman served as the Chairman of the Board of Frontline Fellowship for 14 years. The auditorium at Sunland Village East, where Village Chapel meets for worship, was packed with friends and supporters of Bill and Harriett Bathman's dynamic ministry. Some had flown in from other states. During the open testimony time, dozens of people shared testimonies and examples of God's life-transforming grace ministered through the Word of God preached by Rev. Bill Bathman. People testified of how the Lord used Bill Bathman to bring them to Salvation, mobilise them into Missions, equip them for service, deepen their Faith, widen their vision, impact their lives, teach them Faith, courage and perseverance and so much more.

We have over 9 pages of typed testimonies and Tributes to Rev. Bill Bathman from Around the World uploaded on our www.frontline.org.za website. You can also listen to the sermon presented at the Memorial Service for Rev. Bill Bathman on our SermonAudio.com page of www.frontline.org.za. We have also uploaded the PowerPoint presentation I designed to commemorate the Life and Legacy of Bill Bathman on the Slideshare page of our www.frontline.org.za website. The Order of Service, with Memorial photo collage can also be viewed, or downloaded and printed, from our Memorial Page on the www.frontline.org.za website.

CUBA, CASTRO & COMMUNISM

"Come to Hell with Us!"

Angolan survivors of a Cuban concentration camp told me how, in desperation, after months of torment and torture, they pleaded: "Why don't you just kill us and get it over with?" In response they were told: "Oh no! We do not want to kill you and send you to Heaven with God! We want you to curse Christ and come to hell with us, for all eternity!"

The Gates of Hell Shall Not Prevail

You cannot destroy the Church by burning buildings. The Church consists of people, people who love God, who have been redeemed by the Blood of Christ. "...do not be afraid of those who kill the body and after that have no more that they can do... Fear Him who, after He has killed, has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, fear Him!" Luke 12:4-5

Tyrant Enters Eternity

Fidel Castro, the world's longest ruling dictator, died at age 90. Castro brutally crushed opposition in Cuba from the moment he seized power in 1959, to oppress the Caribbean island, while exporting communist revolution throughout South and Central America and Africa. Millions fled his harsh rule, unknown numbers drowning as they attempted to paddle, or row, on makeshift rafts and boats across the waters to freedom in the United States.

Funeral Arrangements in Cuba

"President" Raul Castro, who took power after his elder brother, Fidel, was hospitalised in 2006, announced the news on national television: "The commander-in-chief of the Cuban Revolution died this evening. In compliance with Comrade Fidel's expressed will, his remains will be cremated early in the morning on Saturday."

Cuban Exiles Rejoice

Many Cuban exiles in the streets of Miami took to the streets waving flags, dancing, banging on pots and drums and hooting their car horns. Pablo Arencibia, a 67-year old teacher who had fled Cuba 20 years before declared: "It is sad that one finds joy in the death of a person - but this person should have never been born."

Fleeing Cuba for Hell

Another Cuban exile declared: "satan is now the one who has to worry, Fidel is heading there and he will try to get his job!" Another Cuban exile posted: "Castro has fled Cuba for hell!" Arkansas Senator, Tom Cotton, reacted: "Fidel Castro created hell on earth for the Cuban people. He will now become intimately familiar with what he wrought." A 72-year old Jay Vernandes, who fled Cuba at age 18, in 1961, held up a sign reading: "satan, Fidel is now yours. Give him what he deserves. Don't let him rest in peace."

Delivering Hell on Earth

Marco Rubio observed: "Fidel Castro seized power promising to bring freedom and prosperity to Cuba, but his communist regime turned it into an impoverished island prison. Over 6 decades, millions of Cubans were forced to flee their own country and those accused of opposing the regime were routinely jailed and even killed. Sadly, Fidel Castro's death does not mean freedom for the Cuban people, or justice for the democratic activists, religious leaders and political opponents he and his brother have jailed and persecuted. The dictator has died, but the dictatorship has not. But one thing is clear, history will not absolve Fidel Castro; it will remember him as an evil, murderous dictator who inflicted misery and suffering on his own people."

A Legacy of Firing Squads

Donald Trump commented: "...the world marks the passing of a brutal dictator who oppressed his own people for nearly 6 decades. Fidel Castro's legacy is one of firing squads, theft, unimaginable suffering, poverty and the denial of fundamental human rights. While Cuba remains a totalitarian island, it is my hope that today marks a move away from the horrors endured for too long and toward a future in which the wonderful Cuban people finally live in the freedom they so richly deserve. Though the tragedies, death and pain caused by Fidel Castro cannot be erased, our administration will do all it can to ensure that the Cuban people can finally begin their journey toward prosperity and liberty."

Comrades Praise Castro

The "president" of Communist China, Xi Jinping, announced: "Comrade Castro will live forever. Castro was a great man of our time... history and people will remember him." French president, Francois Holland, said: "Castro represented, for Cubans, pride in rejecting external domination." Venezuelan president, Nicolás Maduro, Cuba's main ally in the region, announced: "It is up to us to continue his legacy..."

Totalitarian Crime Syndicate

Orlando Gutierrez, founder of the Opposition Cuban Democratic Directorate, in Miami, condemned Castro: "I regret that this criminal never faced a tribunal for all the crimes he committed against his own people. This is a man who leaves a legacy of intolerance, of setting up a family-run dictatorship, which had no tolerance for anyone who thought differently, who set up a vicious totalitarian regime where people were persecuted for the most slight deviation from official ideology."

A System of Repression

José Miguel Vivanco of Human Rights Watch, observed: "The repressive machinery he constructed over almost half a century remains fully intact. Until that changes, it is unlikely that there will be any real progress and human rights in Cuba."

Prison Island

Human Rights Watch sited the Cuban secret police, surveillance, detentions, house-arrests, travel restrictions, criminal prosecutions and politically motivated sackings as methods of enforcing political conformity as well as restrictions embedded in legal and constitutional structures. All media is heavily censored, the spreading of unauthorised news is a criminal offence and internet access is limited. Christian broadcasts from outside the country are limited to shortwave. However, shortwave radios are illegal in Cuba.

Cuban exiles in Miami chanted: "Cuba sí! Castro no!" and "Cuba libre!"

Who Was Fidel Castro?

Fidel Castro was born 13 August 1926 near Birán, Cuba, to a prosperous Spanish immigrant landowner. Fidel was born Fidel Ruz. His father, Ángel, was a Spanish land owner. His mother was a household servant and Ángel's mistress. When Fidel was 17, his father married his mother and formally changed his son's last name from Ruz to Castro. Castro was baptised a Catholic at age 8 and attended several Jesuit-run boarding schools. After graduation, Castro studied law at Havana University, where he became politically active in socialist causes. By the end of the 1940's he was reading the writings of Marx and Lenin and advocating the cause of Revolutionary Socialism.

Born into Wealth and Privilege

Although Fidel Castro claimed to be a man of the people, he was born into privilege and lived in extravagant luxury. Fidel Castro was born on his father, Ángel Castro's, prosperous 25,000-acre, 400-employee sugar plantation, called Las Manacas, near the small town of Birán, about 500 miles from Havana on the Eastern end of the Island. The property now serves as the Castro Museum. Castro's privileged background contradicted his egalitarian message. Castro's father sent him to an elite Jesuit-run boarding school for rich children, where he received a quality education despite mediocre grades. At 14-years old he penned a letter to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, congratulating him on his re-election, while brazenly asking him for money. Ángel Castro, also owned a hotel, pub, post office, market store and a ring for cock-fighting.

Revolutionary Career

In 1947, Castro journeyed to the Dominican Republic to participate in a failed attempt to overthrow the leader, Rafael Trujillo. The same year, he was also accused of instigating an assassination attempt on Cuba's President, Ramon Grau.

Violent Revolutionary

In 1951, at age 25, Castro declared personal war on the government of President Batista. Over the next 16 months he built up a clandestine armed revolutionary organisation. He opened his war, 26 July 1953, leading a dawn attack by 111 rebels on Cuba's second largest army base, the 400-man Moncada Barracks in Santiago de Cuba, on the Eastern end of the Island. Their objectives were to seize weapons, take control of this strategic portion of Cuba and call for a national uprising. The attack was an unmitigated disaster. Shooting began prematurely. Only three rebels even managed to enter the base, Castro's fighters made a disorderly retreat. 69 of his rebels were killed. The army and police lost 19 men in this engagement. Castro escaped only to be captured a few days later. In his courtroom speech, Fidel Castro reportedly concluded with the phrase: "Condemn me, it does not matter! History will absolve me!" In prison, Castro wrote furiously, editing and improving on his trial speech to provide a propaganda document against the "Batista regime."

A New Guerrilla Campaign

On 15 May 1955, Castro was released as part of a general amnesty. In Mexico, Castro met and recruited Ernesto "Che" Guevara, a 27-year old Argentinian Marxist who had been expelled for his Revolutionary activities from Guatemala the previous year. On 2 December 1956, Castro, Che Guevara and 80 followers reached the shores of Cuba's Oriente province, after a sea-sick seven-day voyage. The men waded hip-deep through mud in the mangrove swamp to reach land. Most were killed or captured in the first few hours. Only 16 made it to the Sierra Maestra mountains. There they began their guerrilla campaign to overthrow the government. As he began to recruit peasants as guerrilla fighters and organise intellectuals and middle-class followers into an underground railroad of funds and supplies, his force began to grow.

Communist Coup in Cuba

25 months later they succeeded in ousting the President of Cuba, Batista. The Soviet Union poured in vast amounts of support and made Cuba a Soviet satellite. Although Fidel Castro promised free elections and no more dictatorship, he crushed all political dissent with thousands of civilians being executed by firing squad. No free elections were held in the last 60 years in Cuba.

Promoting the Revolution

Fidel Castro later accredited the New York Times with the success of the Revolution in Cuba. His recruiting was immeasurably aided by New York Times correspondent, Herbert Matthews, who managed to depict the bedraggled 20 rebels of Castro as a potent proletarian movement. Castro marched the same group past Matthews several times and staged an arrival of messengers reporting from non-existent units. Matthew's reports were published in the New York Times: "General Batista cannot possibly hope to suppress the Castro revolt!" Matthew's skill at propaganda and psychological warfare gave the impression of an unstoppable popular movement.

Hatred for America

As these reports were reprinted throughout the world, international support for Castro's revolution grew. Because the Americans were supplying the Cuban government with weapons, Castro was quoted as saying: "The Americans will pay dearly. When this war is over, a much longer and bigger war will begin with me; the war I will make against them! I realise that this will be my true destiny."

First Phase of the Revolution

The first Prime Minister installed after Castro's Revolution, Manuel Urrutia, resigned, accusing Castro of leading Cuba towards communism. Castro began his revolution with popular measures of cutting rents, lowering telephone rates, reforming the income tax system and passing a land reform bill which nationalised farming estates. In 1961, he launched a campaign aimed at ending illiteracy, although critics said it had far more to do with political indoctrination than any real education. In March 1959, 44 pilots and mechanics from the Cuban Air Force were placed on trial. The men were sent to prison for 30 years, for merely being in the Air Force!

"To the Wall!"

Although Cuban law did not allow for capital punishment, the Revolutionary Tribunals sent a steady stream of men, women and children to the firing squads, often televised. In the sports stadium for the public executions were hand-picked mobs of Castro supporters howling in unison: "Paredon! - to the wall!" When many questioned the legality of his actions, Castro famously declared: "Revolutionary justice is not based on legal precepts but on moral conviction!"

Shattering Families

Fidel Castro shattered every family on the Island of Cuba, through mass-executions, mass-jailings, concentration camps, forced labour, torture and exile. Some of the victims of Castro's regime qualify as the longest suffering political prisoners of modern history, including Armando Valladares (the Author of Against All Hope), who was imprisoned for 22 years, merely for his political views. Some of Castro's victims have been imprisoned for three times as long as Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn suffered in Stalin's Gulag.

Filming Executions

50 Years before ISIS, Fidel Castro and Che Guevara were filming political murders. As early as January 1959, they were filming their firing squads in action, for media shock value.

Communist Hell Hole

Fidel Castro converted a highly civilised nation with a higher standard of living than much of Europe and one of the most popular tourist destinations in the world, into a sewer slum island prison ravaged by tropical diseases and the highest suicide rate in the Western hemisphere. Castro's communist Cuba also has been the source of the greatest number of refugees fleeing its shores.

Victims of Fusilado

The word in Spanish for firing squad execution, Fusilado, is a loaded term for most Cubans recalling traumatising flashbacks. On Christmas Eve 1961, Juana Diaz Figueroa, was bound and gagged by Castro's killers. She had been declared guilty of feeding "bandits" (Castro's term for Cuban peasants who tried to defend their land from collectivisation). Despite Juana being six months pregnant, they shot her to death. 17-year old Rigoberto Hernandez, despite being mentally retarded, was dragged from his jail cell, gagged and tied to a stake where he was shot on order of the Executive Revolutionary Council. 15-year old Carlos Machado, along with his twin brother and father, were shot in 1963 for having resisted the theft of their humble family farm as part of the "land reform." According to scholars and researchers at the Cuba Archive, at least 500,000 Cubans were imprisoned in forced labour camps and 100,000 killed through torture, firing squads, machine gunning, beatings and drownings.

Failed Promises

At the time of his Revolution, Castro had vowed that he would share the nations' wealth with its poorest citizens. However, Castro's legacy was one of oppression and hypocrisy. Poverty deepened, teen prostitution increased, houses crumbled, food was rationed and executions of political opponents by the thousands were held in public, with hundreds-of-thousands more sentenced to decades of hard labour.

Soviet Alliance

On 13 February 1960, Fidel Castro signed a deal with the Soviet Union whereby the Soviet Union would buy 5 million tonnes of Cuban sugar over the next five years and Cuba would be given US$ 100 million credit.

Expropriating Industries

Between August and October 1960, Castro ordered the expropriation of Texaco, Esso and Shell Oil refineries and more than 150 other American firms, including Sears and Coca Cola, along with all privately owned sugar mills, banks, industries and commercial real estate. As a result, President Eisenhower slapped an embargo on all US exports to Cuba and broke diplomatic relations with Castro's regime.

Failed Attempt to Free Cuba

In April 1961, just three months into John F. Kennedy's presidency, 1,400 Cuban exiles attempted an invasion of Cuba at the Bay of Pigs. By the US government denying these Cuban freedom fighters the air support they had been promised, the invasion failed.

Threatening Assassination

Fidel Castro threatened President John F. Kennedy and his brother Robert Kennedy, with assassination. "If US leaders are aiding terrorist plans to eliminate Cuban leaders, they themselves will not be safe. Let Kennedy and his brother take care of themselves since they too can be a victim of an attempt that can cause their deaths!" Ten weeks later, President Kennedy was killed in Dallas, Texas, by sniper's bullets, apparently fired by a young American admirer of Castro, Lee Harvey Oswald, who had recently visited the Cuban Embassy in Mexico City.

Two-time candidate for Democratic presidential nomination, Jesse Jackson, arm-in-arm with Fidel Castro, shouted out publically: "Viva Fidel! Viva Che!" Former American president Jimmy Carter declared: "Fidel Castro first and foremost is and always has been a committed egalitarian. He wanted a system that provided the basic needs to all Cubans, has superb systems of health care and universal education... we greeted each other as old friends."

Democratic presidential candidate, George McGovern: "Fidel Castro is very shy and sensitive, I frankly like him and regard him as a friend."

CNN Founder, Ted Turner, declared: "Fidel Castro is one helluva guy!"

Barbara Walters declared: "Castro's personal magnetism is still powerful, his presence is still commanding. Cuba has a very high literacy and Castro has brought great health care to his country."

Dan Rather declared: "Fidel Castro could have been Cuba's Elvis!"

Valuable Media Propaganda

No wonder Che Guevara declared in 1959: "Much more valuable to us than military recruits for our guerrilla army, were recruiting American reporters to export our propaganda."

"Through the New York Times!"

Fidel Castro, while pinning a medal on New York Times reporter, Herbert Matthews, in April 1959, declared: "Without the help of the New York Times, the Revolution in Cuba would never have been!"

"Useful Idiots"

It was Lenin who talked about useful idiots in the West who will sell the communists the rope with which they will hang them. Khrushchev declared: "We spit in their faces and they call it dew!"

Deception is an Art Form

Vladimir Lenin said "treaties are like pie crusts, made to be broken!" "To tell the truth is a petty bourgeoisie habit, but to lie and lie convincingly, is a sign of superior intelligence!"

Media Propagandists

Leftist media have performed a very useful service to the communists by denigrating the West and its Christian heritage and seeking to defend bankrupt and diabolical systems of communism. Western stooges are still trying to defend socialist hell-holes like Cuba and the number of Western leftists singing the praises of Castro and other idols of the New World order is legion.

Operation Pedro Pan

From 26 December 1960 to 22 October 1962, more than 14,000 children between 6 and 18 were flown to the United States in Operation Pedro Pan, a Catholic church-backed initiative that turned into the largest exodus of unaccompanied children in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

Refugees Flee

Over the next 40 years, more than 3 million Cubans (over 1/5 of the total population) fled Cuba.

Entrenching Communism in Cuba

On 2 December 1961, in a dramatic late night speech, Castro announced to the nation: "Do I believe in Marxism? I believe absolutely in Marxism! Did I believe on January 1959? I believed on January 1! Did I believe on 26 July 1953? I believed on 26 July! Our people could not understand a larger plan, we supported at that time, a programme that was within the reach of the people... my own ideas were more advanced, but I certainly could not be preaching that in public to everybody... because that would not have had a practical result." Despite the New York Times and Castro admirers steadfastly declaring that he was in no way a communist, but a popular democratic leader, more akin to Robin Hood, Castro's embrace of communism was absolute. In 1961, he fused his July 26 movement with Cuba's Communist Party and in 1965, formally established a Cuban Communist Party with himself as its First Secretary.

Exporting Revolution Worldwide

"The duty of a Revolutionary is to make Revolution!" declared Castro in his second Declaration of Havana, 1962, which called for communist insurgency throughout the world. Cuban soldiers and secret agents became a vital part of Revolutions in 13 countries in Africa and many more throughout South and Central America. The frontlines of confrontation between Communism and the West shifted from Europe to the jungles of the Third World.

The Cuban Missile Crisis

While denying that he was a communist and declaring his country to be merely socialist, Castro was working closely with Nikita Khrushchev, the dictator of the Soviet Union, to install Soviet strategic nuclear weapons on Cuban soil to threaten America. This sparked the 13-day, October 1963, confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union known as the Cuban Missile Crisis, which was the closest the world has ever come to nuclear holocaust. Between July and September 1962, the Soviet Union began to ship medium range and tactical missiles, IL-28 bombers capable of carrying nuclear bombs and MiG-21 jet fighters to Cuba. Soviet troop strength in Cuba grew to over 40,000. In October, President Kennedy revealed the spy plane photography of Cuban missile build-up of Soviet missiles in Cuba and ordered a blockade (quarantine) of Cuba, demanding the removal of all these missiles from Cuba. Castro, years later, reported that he had urged Soviet dictator, Nikita Khrushchev to fire the missiles at America. He was furious to have been left out of the decision making that involved the removal of the missiles from Cuba.

Russian Economic Aid

Nevertheless, Cuba could not survive without Soviet financial aid. Moscow poured tens-of-billions of dollars of direct aid into the island as well as countless other subsidised commercial transactions, such as providing Castro with below-cost Soviet oil to resell at a profit to Latin America countries. Moscow also bought Cuban sugar at premium prices. Yet, despite all the Soviet generosity, the Cuban economy under Castro still collapsed.

The Failure of Socialism in Cuba

All of Castro's attempts to bend the laws of economics to his personal will, generally ended in disaster. Despite his diverting all resources into sugar harvests, doubling the cutting season, sending the army, college students and government bureaucrats into the harvest fields, not only did the harvest fall heavily short, but other sectors of the Cuban economy were paralysed. The distortions Castro introduced into the economy reverberated disastrously for years.

Marief Boat Lift

In April 1980, when 11,000 asylum seekers poured into the Peruvian Embassy to plead for political asylum, Castro was manoeuvred to allow the Marief Boatlift during which 120,000 Cubans were allowed to leave Cuba on a flotilla of yachts and fishing boats, ferrying between Key West and Marief in Cuba.

Defeated in Grenada

Castro supported Marxist terrorist movements in El Salvador and Guatemala, Angola and Nicaragua. When President Ronald Reagan sent the US military into the Caribbean Island of Grenada, in 1983, the Castro-backed government dissolved into murderous anarchy and Castro's soldiers retreated so fast that Cubans joked that a running shoe should be named after their commanding officer!

Economic Collapse

With the collapse of the Soviet Union in 1991 and the end of the financial backing for Castro's adventures overseas, Cuba fell further into irrelevancy and economic decay. With the loss of US$ 4 billion a year in aid from the Soviet Union, the Cuban economy collapsed 40%. Even more stringent rationing and severe shortages followed.

Attacking Refugees

On 13 July 1994, the Cuban government attacked a tugboat full of refugees headed for Florida. Using high pressure hoses, they blasted the boat to pieces. When one of the survivors, Maria Victoria Graca, shouted: "Look at the children! You are going to kill them!", they responded: "Let them die! Let them die!" 41 of the refugees did die that day.

Restoring Prostitution

After having condemned prostitution as "a social illness" in the early days of the Revolution, in 1992, Castro bragged to the national assembly that the prostitutes on Havana's streets in search of tourists, "were the most cultured in the world!" "We can say that they are highly educated and quite healthy!"

Elían Gonzalez Kidnapping

In November 1999, Elían Gonzalez, a little boy washed up in South Florida after his mother and ten others died while fleeing Cuba on a raft, became the flashpoint of a political struggle between Cuban exiles in Florida and Castro's communist regime in Cuba.

Exiles said sending Elían back to Cuba would be like sending a runaway slave back to the plantation. The Clinton administration sent an ATF SWAT team into the apartment where Elían was being housed, forcibly removed him and shipped him back to Castro's Cuba.

The Devaluation of the Peso

Today, doctors, lawyers and even nuclear engineers have abandoned their professions in droves to drive taxis, or work as tour guides, to get their hands on dollars instead of the worthless Cuban Pesos.

A Latin American Anomaly

Human Rights Watch observes: "Cuba remains a Latin America anomaly: an undemocratic government that represses nearly all forms of political dissent. Cubans are systematically denied basic rights to free expression, association, assembly, privacy, movement and due process of law."

Exporting Terrorism

Fidel Castro helped train and fund practically every terrorist group on earth, from the Weathermen to Puerto Rico's Macheteros, from the Argentinian Montoneros to Columbia's FARC, from America's Black Panthers to Ireland's IRA, from the PLO to Alfata, from Angola's MPLA to South Africa's ANC.

Decadent Dictator

Although Fidel Castro claimed that he lived in a humble "fisherman's cottage", he owned 20 mansions and palaces including at Jaimanitas, Cayo Piedra, La Caleta del Rosario, which featured a private marina and La Deseada, a chalet in Pinar Del Rio. Punto Cero, a pre-revolutionary golf course, was turned into an extravagant estate complex for Fidel Castro. Over a decade ago, Forbes estimated Fidel Castro's personal net worth at US$ 900 million. His favourite home, Punto Cero, was a 75-acre suburban Havana home with extravagant luxury.

Hypocritical Fraud & Drug Trafficker

While Fidel Castro's people suffered, the dictator lived in extravagant luxury with multiple wives, many mistresses, amassing a personal fortune by providing safe havens to drug traffickers, Castro cheated on his first wife, the upper-middle class Mirta Diaz-Balart, with Natalia Revuelta, even though she was already married. Castro cheated on his second wife, seducing Comrade Celia Sánchez, his secretary. Castro also had open affairs with his English interpreter, his French interpreter, a Cuban airline stewardess and many others. Juan Reinaldo Sanchez, who for 17 years was a bodyguard of Castro, published in his book "The Double Life of Fidel Castro" details of Castro's greed, pride, rage, malice, immoral affairs, drug trafficking and international intrigues promoting Revolution and ordering assassinations. "While they promise them liberty, they themselves are slaves of corruption..."

2 Peter 2:19

Daughter and Sister Flee Cuba

In 1964, Castro admitted that he was holding 15,000 political prisoners. Amongst the many millions of Cubans who fled Cuba, was his daughter Alina Fernández Revuelta and his younger sister, Juanita. Castro had as many as 11 children with at least four women, only two of whom he was married to. Castro's rebellious daughter, Alina Fernández Revuelta, was the only one who was known to openly stand up against and resist the dictator. When Alina succeeded in escaping from Cuba in 1993, Fidel went mad with rage. Alina remained one of her father's most outspoken opponents. "When people tell me he is a dictator, I tell them that is not the right word, strictly speaking, Fidel is a tyrant!" she told the Miami Herald. "I have looked up the two words in the dictionary. A dictator is 'a person who is granted absolute powers to face a national emergency on a temporary basis'. A tyrant is 'an absolute ruler, unrestrained by law, who usurps people's rights.'"

The Longest Speeches in History

Fidel Castro holds the Guinness Book of World Records title for the longest speech ever delivered at the United Nations: 4 hours and 29 minutes on 29 September 1960. His longest recorded speech in Cuba was 7 hours and 10 minutes in 1986 at the Third Communist Congress in Havana.

Cigars for Your Enemy

Castro, once a cigar chomping guerrilla leader, gave up cigars in 1985. Years later he spoke on the harm of smoking tobacco by saying: "The best thing you can do with this box of cigars, is to give them to your enemy."

Survivor

Castro claimed he survived 634 attempts on his life, mainly masterminded by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) of America.

Exporting Revolution

In 1965, Castro officially merged his revolutionary organisation with the Cuban Communist Party and installed himself as head of the party, officially making Cuba the first communist country in the Western hemisphere. Castro provided a safe haven base in Cuba for numerous international revolutionary groups including America's Black Panthers and Vietnam's Viet Cong. According to Human Rights Watch, under Castro's rule, the Cuban people were systematically deprived of their fundamental rights to free expression, privacy, association, assembly, movement, due process of law, conscience and religious freedom.

Exporting Revolution to Africa

From 1975 to 1989, Castro maintained a force of 55,000 Cuban soldiers in Angola seeking to prop up the communist MPLA regime and attempting to wipe out Jonas Savimbi's UNITA freedom fighters and support the SWAPO terrorists in their war against South Africa and South West Africa. Cuban military in Angola lost thousands of men and called it a "green hell". After the Cuban elite presidential guard mechanised division had been annihilated on the banks of the Lomba River, Fidel Castro executed his friend and supreme commander, General Arnaldo Sánchez, for losing the war against the "fascist, racist South Africans".

Atheist State

In 1976 the Constitution of Cuba added a clause, making the country officially atheistic and stating that it was "punishable by law to oppose one's faith or religious belief to the Revolution."

Persecution of the Church in Cuba

Tens-of-thousands of Christians were sentenced to hard labour in brutal concentration camps in Cuba. Christian Solidarity Worldwide reported on the deplorable conditions in Cuba: "Each Sunday the government continues to violate the most basic of rights, the right to freely participate in religious services and form part of a religious community without interference. The Cuban government claims of reform and respect for human rights cannot be taken seriously. Unless these violations are addressed and real protections for religious freedom for all put in place."

Church Growth In Spite of Persecution

In 2010 the number of Evangelical Christians in Cuba was reported to have grown to over 800,000.

Restricting Religious Freedom

The latest United States Commission on International Religious Freedom notes: "Religious freedom conditions in Cuba deteriorated due to increased government actions and threats to close, demolish, or confiscate church properties. In addition, the Cuban government continues to harass religious leaders and laity, interfere in religious groups internal affairs and prevent democracy and human rights activists from participating in religious activities."

Idol of the New World Order

Fidel Castro has become a revered icon and idol of the New World Order and of the fashionable left. He has mentored almost all of the world's dictators, met with Hollywood stars and been praised by the liberal elite, despite being responsible for the deaths of tens-of-thousands of innocent people, the unjust imprisonment of hundreds of thousands, the brutal persecution of Christians, democratic activists, homosexuals and anyone else he did not like. His subordinates murdered, raped, stole from and abused anyone who got in their way. The revolutions he helped export caused the deaths of millions more in Angola, Mozambique, Ethiopia, Equatorial Guinea, Congo and elsewhere.

"...Should you help the wicked and love those who hate the Lord? Therefore the wrath of the Lord is upon you."

Great Commission Course 2017

REFORMATION to REMOTEST REGIONS

Participants for this year's Great Commission Course came from as far afield as America, Canada, England, Kenya and New Zealand. Participants wrote that they came to the GCC: "to be empowered, so that I can empower others." "to learn to be more effective.", "to gain courage and boldness" and for "duty and desire to glorify God."

The three-week Great Commission Course included: 16 P.T. sessions, 7 hikes, 5 adventure activities, 12 Devotions, 11 Bible Drills, 54 lectures, 5 discussion groups, 15 films, 18 outreaches and 12 church services. It also included 5 educational day trips and a range of opportunities for ministry.

Workshops included: Vehicle Maintenance, Film Evangelism, First Aid, Public Speaking, Biblical Preaching, Church Security, Self-Defence and Archery. A Prayer Vigil was held outside Marie Stopes abotuary. Open-air preaching, mass literature distribution and one-on-one personal Evangelism were held in shopping centres, townships and at the Waterfront. Each of the participants had an opportunity to present a testimony, or message, on Salt and Light, our programme on Radio Tygerberg. Several of our participants had the privilege of leading people to Christ on the streets and in homes, during outreaches.

Some of the written responses of the GCC participants include: "Intense, informative, awesome", "fast paced; well-executed", "It was fantastic", "Excellent teaching. Great fellowship. I would recommend this to others interested in missions", "I learned to push myself and persevere", "I've been challenged to study God's Word more and to memorise Scripture", "I've really been pushed but it has been good for me. I've learned more about myself and my strengths and weaknesses", "emboldened", "Mind refocused, excited for missions!", "Everything was fantastic. Thank you all so much!"

REFORMATION and REVIVAL CONFERENCES

"On the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, 'If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink. He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, out of his heart will flow rivers of living water'." John 7:37-38

Zambia and KwaZulu

By God's grace, I have returned from my third Mission so far this year. After participating in the Lusaka Reformation Conference, I flew to KwaZulu/Natal to take part in the Ministers Conference at KwaSizabantu Mission.

Reformation in Zambia

In Lusaka, the capital of Zambia, the Frontline Fellowship Mission team was hosted at the Justo Mwale University for the Lusaka Reformation FIRE Conference. I was requested to give presentations on: Martin Luther – Captive to the Word, Biblical Faith and Modern Counterfeits, The Urgent Need for Reformation Today, Revival in the Bible and in History, Practical Steps to Reformation and How Can We Work for Reformation in Zambia Today. Our Missionary, John Clifford gave presentations on Justification and the Righteousness of God, The Call for Discernment, Soli Deo Gloria – The Call to Worship, Preach the Word, The Priesthood of all Believers and The Man of God.

Resources for Reformation

Participants came from all over Zambia and from Malawi and Zimbabwe. We ensured that all participants were given their own copies of the Coalition on Revival Reformation 500 FIRE Manual, Firm Foundations for your Faith booklets and the Biblical Principles for Africa book. Those involved in chaplain's ministries were particularly delighted to receive the new, updated and expanded Chaplains Handbooks to equip chaplains working in the army, police, prisons, hospitals and Fire Brigade. We also had audio visual materials to equip Evangelists, including Digital Libraries on SD cards.

From the Ends of the Earth

After completing my part in the Lusaka Conference, I travelled through to KwaZulu/Natal for the Ministers Conference at KwaSizabantu Mission. Participants came from as far afield as Algeria, America, Armenia, Belgium, Burundi, Chad, the Congo, France, Greece, Germany, Hungary, India, Latvia, Lesotho, Mozambique, Namibia, the Netherlands, Russia, Romania, South Korea, Switzerland, Swaziland, Sweden, Togo and Zambia.

When Blessings are Blocked

The Founder and Director of KwaSizabantu Mission, Rev. Erlo Stegen, related the story of when his mother's garden was dying. There was no shortage of water. He climbed up to the reservoir and saw that it was full to the brim, but still the plants were dying. Something was preventing the water from reaching the soil. He opened up sections of the pipe and sucked and at one point, out came a frog's leg! As he pulled the frog out, the water poured out.

The Path to Revival

Rev. Stegen asked: “What is blocking God’s blessing in your life and ministry? Do not touch what is unclean! Come out of the world and be separate. You can accept Christ countless times, but if Christ does not accept you – then you are lost for all eternity! God does not tolerate sin. If you want God to work in your life and community, get rid of your pride, selfishness and blaming others. You want God to work in your relatives? Let God first work in your own life and work Godly sorrow to produce repentance with all your heart. Deal with your own sin! What is not right in your own life? God cannot tolerate pride. Whatever separates you from God - Separate from it. Do not just be a hearer of the Word, but a doer. Who may ascend the hill of the Lord? He who has clean hands and a pure heart. Are your hands clean? Is your heart pure? Are your lips without fault? ‘Come out from among them and be separate...’

2 Corinthians 6:17.”

Search Your Heart

You may pray for God’s blessings over your food, yet are the plates and cutlery stolen? You may ask God to bless your sleep, yet is any of your furniture stolen? Where do the sheets come from? Examine yourself. Have you stolen anything? Return it.

Do you have other people’s property amongst your possessions? Return what you have borrowed. Replace what you have broken. Make full restitution. Restore those broken relationships.

Take Up Your Cross

God looks at your heart. What is in your heart? Some people want to cast our demons and yet their heart is a nest of demons. We cannot expect God to use us to reach the world while we hold bitterness, unforgiveness and pride in our own lives. Revivals bring separation from sin and the world.

Are you willing to pay the price?

Back to the Bible

These two conferences were a great reminder that while Reformation is our work – as we seek to get serious with God and back to the Bible, applying the Lordship of Christ to all areas of life, Revival is a sovereign act of Almighty God.

Seek God for Revival

We must work for Biblical Reformation.

We must pray and trust God, who alone can send spiritual Revival.

“Will You not revive us again, that Your people may rejoice in You?” Psalm 85:6

Please pray for our Mission teams who are ministering across 7 nations.

Thank you for all your prayers, encouragement and support.

Yours for Reformation and Revival

CHRISTIANS ATTACKED in NIGERIA

The Christian Association of Nigeria believes the attacks are religiously motivated and form part of a Jihad by Islamists to wipe out Christianity in Kaduna.

According to one Diocese of Kafanchan, 808 people were killed and 53 villages attacked across four parts of Southern Kaduna, between April and December 2016.

Muslim Fulani Jihadists targeted Christian settlements at Kagoro and Kafanchan between the 7th and the 12th of January leaving countless dead. Islamic extremists also killed 45 people in the village of Chaiwai in November 2016.

“Remember the prisoners as if chained with them – those who are mistreated – since you yourselves are in the body also.”
Hebrews 13:3

The situation in Southern Kaduna State has become so serious that the UN Special Rapporteur on Extra-judicial, Summary or Arbitrary Executions is investigating the attacks.

CHRISTIANS ATTACKED in CENTRAL AFRICA

Pastor Sankagui was then attacked and stabbed to death. His church was set on fire and destroyed. Two other churches in the area were also set on fire and a local school was destroyed. At least 3 people were killed and 26 injured in the violence.

Muslim militants surrounded a Christian church in the Central African Republic, seizing the pastor and stabbing him to death. They then burnt the church down. Pastor Jean-Paul Sankagui of the Eglise Du Christ Nen Centra Afrique was attacked and stabbed to death by members of the Muslim rebel militia in Bangui, the capital of the Central African Republic.

“And if one member suffers, all the members suffer with it; or if one member is honoured, all the members rejoice with it. Now you are the body of Christ and members individually.”

1 Corinthians 12:26-27

An eyewitness reported that Sankagui had urged those present at the church to flee and escape the coming violence.
